R. N. Thyagarajan and R. N. Tharanathan, popularly known as the Rudrapatnam Brothers, hail from a family of reputed musicians, who are zealously keeping their tradition for 3 generations from Rudrapatnam, a sleepy village on the banks of the Cauvery river in Karnataka state, South India. Music was an integral part of the family along with Veda adhyayana, study of Sanskrit and agriculture. They are trained by their father Sri R.K. Narayanaswamy, a disciple of Sri Musiri Subramania Iyer and their uncle late Sri R.K.Venkatarama Sastri, violinist and a disciple of Sri Mysore T. Chowdiah. The brothers possess a chaste classical style and demonstrate excellence in rendering compositions. Clarity in Ragam, purity in Sruti, stability in Gamakas, and correctness in the articulation of the Sahitya characterize their highly style. Among vocal duos, they distinguish themselves especially for the exquisite manner in which their voices blend together.
